HEALTH

Melanie Davis*

I am a social ambassador with Grouper, a company paid by Medicare to encourage seniors to interact with others. Why? The more socially connected we feel, the better our health. Enrollees in some Medicare Advantage and Medicare supplement plans, via Grouper, can get membership dues (up to $100 a year) paid for by Grouper. Social connections power our overall well-being. So if you're a member of a garden club, bridge club, the Elks or Rotary, a sailing club or car club — you name it, contact me for information: melaniedaviscompany@gmail.com, or phone 415-699-7926.
